Acknowledgement of Country

Union College acknowledges the Traditional Custodians of the land, water, and air on which the College is located. Our community lives, learns, and grows together on these rich lands, waters, and air, which have been gathering places for thousands of years.

Union College is committed to honouring Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' unique cultural and spiritual relationships to the lands, air, waters, and seas, and to their significant contribution to society as the oldest living civilisation in the world. We pay our respects to Elders past and present. Through them, we offer our respect to all First Nations people with whom Union College is privileged to live, work, and learn.

In alignment with the Australian Universities Accord Final Report, we commit to ensuring that First Nations students are supported to participate fully in our residential community, and that their voices, knowledge, and perspectives are valued and visible in the decisions that affect them.

Welcome to Union College

Welcome from Adjunct Professor Fiona Hawthorne, Head of College and CEO

Welcome to Union College. This is your home for the next chapter of your journey.

Union College is more than a place to live. It's a community where you belong, can be yourself, and grow as a person and as a student. We're a diverse group—different backgrounds, cultures, beliefs, interests. That's what makes us strong.

In this handbook, you'll find practical information about living here: your room, our facilities, the rules we follow together, and how to get help when you need it.

But there's something more important I want you to know – we are committed to keeping you safe. That means we work hard to prevent harm, to listen when you tell us something is wrong, and to act fairly and quickly when you need us to.

The team and Resident Mentors are here for you—not just for rules, but for real support. Whether you're struggling with study, feeling homesick, facing a problem with another resident, or dealing with something bigger—please reach out.

Make the most of your time here. Get involved, look after yourself and each other, and know that our doors are always open.

Welcome home.

Welcome from Your Resident Mentors

Welcome from your 2026 Senior Resident Mentors. Welcome to The University of Queensland Union College!

We are so excited you are here to join us for an unforgettable year at Union College – a place where you are welcomed as you are, supported as you grow and encouraged to become who you're capable of being, alongside friendships and memories that will last a lifetime.

As your Senior Resident Mentors, our role is to foster the college's spirit and channel it into a strong, connected and growing community. Together, with the 2026 Resident Mentor team, we are here to support your academic, cultural, social and personal journey. Our goal is to continue shaping Union into the home we all know and love – a place of belonging, empowerment, growth and shared experience. Most importantly, you are now a very important part of that home, and we can't wait to see the impact you'll make within our community.

To support your transition into college life, our friendly Union team has put together an engaging and welcoming O-Week program. This series of activities is designed to help you settle in, get to know college life, make new friends and begin exploring Brisbane.

The fun certainly doesn't stop after O-Week! Throughout the year, Union offers a wide range of sporting, cultural and social events that bring our community together. The sea of Union colours on the sidelines of these events is what makes us most proud. We encourage you to try something new this year, perhaps we'll even see you dressed up as Boris if you are feeling adventurous!

Importantly, this is your journey. Union College is what you make of it, and we want you to be as involved as you feel right. If you have ideas, passions or interests you'd like to explore, our team is always here to support you. We cannot wait to get to know you all!

Warmest regards,

Xoe & Luke

History and Heritage

Union College was established in 1965 at the University of Queensland, St Lucia site. It was designed by renowned architect James Peter Birrell and recognised as one of the ten best buildings in Australia when it opened. In 1968, we became Queensland's first residential college to welcome both men and women. In 2004, we were added to the Queensland Heritage Register.

We're proud of this history. Today, we continue to innovate and lead in how we support emerging adults to live together respectfully and safely.

How We Live Together

What This Is About

Union College is a community. That means we all have responsibilities to each other. We agree to follow the same rules, treat each other with respect, and help create an environment where everyone feels safe and belongs.

We believe in honesty, fairness, and speaking up when something is wrong. We do not tolerate violence, harassment, abuse, or any behaviour that makes someone feel unsafe.

This section explains what we expect from you and what you can expect from us.

What You Can Expect from Union College

- A safe environment: We work hard to prevent harm. We have trained staff and transparent processes to respond if something goes wrong.
- To be heard: If you tell us about a problem, we listen. We don't blame you for speaking up.
- Confidentiality (with limits): We keep what you tell us private, except where safety requires us to act or the law requires us to report.
- Fair processes: If there's an investigation or disciplinary process, you have the right to know what's happening and to have your side heard.
- Support: We provide counselling, medical help, and other resources. If we can't help with something, we'll connect you to someone who can.
- No retaliation: We protect you from being treated badly for making a report or participating in any process.

What Union College Expects from You

- Follow the Code of Conduct: Read it carefully. It sets out the standards for living here. It's binding on all of us.
- Respect other residents: Treat people with kindness, even if you don't know them well or agree with them. Include people. Challenge disrespectful behaviour.
- Seek and give consent: Ask before you do anything that involves another person's body, privacy, or feelings. Respect their answer. Remember: consent is clear, enthusiastic, and freely given. It can be withdrawn at any time.
- Follow the alcohol policy: Drink responsibly. Don't pressure others to drink. Look out for people who may be at risk. Never use alcohol as an excuse for harmful behaviour.
- Keep shared spaces clean and safe: Leave common areas better than you found them. Don't block fire exits. Report hazards.

- Look after your room: Keep it in good condition. Lock your door. Report problems early.
- Be a good neighbour: Keep noise down between 11 pm and 8 am, especially on weeknights. Be mindful of people studying, sleeping, or who may be sensitive to sounds or smells.
- Know how to get help: Read this handbook. Know who to talk to. Know the emergency numbers. Don't stay silent if something is wrong.

The Code of Conduct

What It Means

The Code of Conduct is a set of standards for living at Union College. When you sign your Resident Contract, you agree to follow it. If you don't, there are consequences—from a conversation with staff to losing your room.

The Code is fair. It applies to everyone equally. It's designed to keep us all safe and to protect the community.

Your Responsibilities

As a resident, you agree to:

Behaviour and Community

- Comply with your Resident Contract and all College policies
- Be responsible for your own behaviour and for your guests' behaviour
- Treat all residents, staff, and visitors with respect at all times
- Never engage in, encourage, or ignore violence, harassment, abuse, bullying, or any form of gender-based violence
- Seek and respect consent in all interactions
- Keep noise and disruption to a minimum, especially between 11 pm and 8 am

Your Room

- Keep your room clean and in good condition
- Lock your door when you're out
- Report damage or maintenance issues promptly
- Allow cleaning staff access every week
- Do not have overnight guests (this is a fire safety requirement)

Shared Spaces

- Leave common areas clean and tidy after use
- Don't remove or damage equipment or furniture

- Don't block fire exits, pathways, or emergency equipment
- Help keep gardens and outdoor areas in good condition

Your Studies

- Apply yourself to your studies and maintain good academic standing
- Share your academic results with the Resident Engagement & Programs Manager each semester (this helps us support you and track your progress)

Safety and Compliance

- Respond immediately to fire alarms and evacuation directions
- Follow all fire safety, workplace health and safety, and emergency procedures
- Don't use illegal drugs
- Follow the Responsible Consumption of Alcohol Policy
- Comply with all directions from staff and Resident Mentors
- Don't negatively impact the College's reputation through your actions

If Something Goes Wrong

If you break the Code, here's what happens:

1. First conversation: A staff member or RM will talk to you about what happened. Many issues are resolved this way.
2. Formal warning: If it's more serious, you'll get a written warning and be clear about what needs to change.
3. Disciplinary process: For serious breaches (especially violence, harassment, or sexual misconduct), there's a formal investigation. You'll be told what the allegation is, given a fair chance to tell your side, and informed of the outcome.
4. Sanctions: These might include loss of room access, a fine, a required apology or restorative action, suspension from the College, or termination of your residence.

We aim to be fair and transparent throughout. If you're going through a disciplinary process, you can ask for support from a staff member, friend, or advocate.

Safety, Respect, and Gender-Based Violence

What This Is About

Union College is a place where all residents should feel safe and respected. We do not tolerate violence, harassment, abuse, or any form of gender-based violence.

Gender-based violence includes:

- Sexual assault and rape
- Sexual harassment
- Intimate partner violence
- Stalking
- Image-based abuse (sharing intimate photos without consent)
- Emotional, psychological, or financial abuse directed at someone because of their gender, gender identity, or sexuality
- Any violence targeting women, LGBTIQAP+ people, or other groups

It is never the victim's fault. Let's say that again. It is never the victim's fault.

No one deserves to be harmed. Nothing you wore, said, or did justifies violence against you.

At Union College, we are committed to a whole-of-organisation approach to preventing and responding to gender-based violence. That means:

- We educate residents about respectful relationships, consent, and equality
- We train all staff to respond to disclosures and reports sensitively and fairly
- We investigate seriously and take action against perpetrators
- We support people who have experienced harm
- We hold people accountable
- We are transparent about what we're doing

What You Can Expect from Union College

If you experience harm:

- We believe you
- We won't judge you or ask why it happened

- We will listen and give you time
- We can connect you to counselling, medical help, or other support—on campus or in the community
- We can help you make a formal report if you want to, or we can listen if you don't want to report yet
- We will keep what you tell us confidential, except where we're legally required to report (e.g., if a child is at risk) or where your safety or others' safety requires us to act
- We will not retaliate against you for speaking up

About investigation and discipline:

- If there's an investigation, we will investigate promptly and fairly
- We will prioritise your safety throughout the process
- We will tell you what's happening, without sharing details that would compromise fairness
- We will not pressure you into any action or process
- If the person who harmed you is found to have broken the Code, we will take action, which may include them moving away from you on campus, undergoing some training about why their behaviour was wrong, or being expelled
- We will support your safety while any process is underway (for example, separating residents if needed, changing your room, or limiting contact)

If you're accused:

- You have the right to know what you're accused of
- You have the right to be heard fairly
- You have the right to ask questions and present your side
- You have the right to support from a friend, advocate, or staff member during any process
- We will make a decision based on the balance of probabilities and alignment with our values
- You have the right to know the outcome

What Union College Expects from You

- Understand consent: Consent means explicit, enthusiastic agreement. It's not assumed, it's not silence, it's not given once, and then it lasts forever. Check in. Listen. Respect a no. If someone says no or seems uncertain, stop. If someone is asleep, drunk, or otherwise unable to give explicit consent, stop.
- Respect other people's bodies and boundaries: Don't touch, kiss, or be intimate with someone without their clear consent, every time. Respect when people say no to physical contact, hugs, or sexual activity. Don't share intimate photos or videos without permission.

- Challenge disrespectful behaviour: If you hear a friend make a joke that's racist, homophobic, or puts down women, say something. If you see someone being left out or mistreated because of their gender, sexuality, disability, or culture, speak up. If you see someone at risk of harm, step in or get help.
- Be an ethical bystander: An ethical bystander is someone who witnesses an event that is disrespectful or harmful, chooses to do something, and considers the safest way to intervene.
- Look after your friends: If a friend is drunk at a social event, make sure they're safe. Please don't leave them alone. Don't let someone take them somewhere private because they are unlikely to be able to give consent. If you're worried, call for help.
- Know the resources: Read this handbook. Know how to get help in an emergency. Know how to make a report if you need to. Know where to find counselling. Put all the college emergency contact numbers into your phone now.
- Participate in respectful relationships education: We offer training and information on consent, healthy relationships, and bystander action. Engage with this. Learn. It matters.

What Is Consent?

Consent is:

- Clear and enthusiastic
- Given freely, without pressure or coercion
- Specific (saying yes to one thing doesn't mean yes to everything)
- Ongoing (can be withdrawn at any time)
- Reversible (changing your mind is okay)
- Given by someone who can actually agree (awake, sober, capable of understanding)

Consent is NOT:

- Silence
- Assuming someone wants to because they didn't say no
- Giving it once and it lasts forever
- Possible if someone is asleep, unconscious, or drunk
- A yes to one thing is a yes to everything
- Ever owed to anyone

It's your job to:

- Ask clearly
- Listen to the answer
- Stop if someone seems unsure
- Respect a no
- Help friends understand consent too

Living on Campus

Your Room

Access and Privacy

Your room is your private space. No one can enter without your permission—not staff, not other residents, not your friends.

If we think your safety is at risk, we will enter your room. But only after we've knocked a few times and announced who we are.

Exception: In emergencies (fire, medical emergency) or for planned maintenance, facilities staff may need to enter. We will give you at least 24 hours' notice beforehand, except in genuine emergencies. After staff leave, your door will be locked.

Room Condition Report

When you arrive, carefully check your room. Fill out the Condition Report and report any damage or missing items to the Facilities & Maintenance Officer within 2 days. This protects you—if something is already broken and we know about it, you won't be charged for it when you leave.

When you leave, we'll check the room against the report. If College items are missing or damaged, you may be charged for repairs or replacement.

Keeping Your Room Safe

- Lock your door every time you leave, even if you're going downstairs for 5 minutes
- Don't lend your key fob to friends or other residents
- Know your Fob: Your key fob controls your door. If you lose it, tell the Office immediately. Replacement costs $30 for the first, $40 for the second, $50 for the third, and increase by $10 each time
- Locked out? During office hours, go to the Office to sign out a spare. After hours, ask the Resident Support Officer or Duty RM for help
- Program your door: Your fob controls whether your door locks or unlocks when you close it. Ask your RM to show you how to change it

Room Cleaning and Maintenance

- Weekly cleaning: A cleaner visits every week on a day you'll be notified about. Make sure your room is accessible. Cleaners won't move your things, so clear the floor. Cleaning includes vacuuming, dusting, emptying the bin, and cleaning the mirror.
- Deeper cleaning: If you want to clean more thoroughly, sign out a Cleaning Pack from the Office (includes spray, cloth, duster, and vacuum)

- Maintenance: Report problems early: blocked drains, broken lights, leaky taps, etc. Use the QR code in your room or email operations@unioncollegeuq.com.au with details. If reported by noon, maintenance will aim to visit that day
- No damage to structure: Don't put holes in walls, remove fixtures, or damage the room itself. If you do, you'll be charged. Do not use Blu-Tac on the walls. Ask your Floor RM for some painter's tape. Do not put anything on the floor or corridor walls unless it is on the pinboard or whiteboard provided in each hall.

Electricity and Electrical Safety

- Standard Australian power outlets: 10-amp, 240-volt
- If you use a power board, make sure it has overload and reset functions
- Turn off lights, fans, and air conditioning when you're not in your room
- Lithium-ion batteries are a serious fire risk: Only use small devices (laptops, phones, tablets) with manufacturer-certified chargers. Charge in well-ventilated areas during the day. Never charge overnight or unattended. Keep batteries away from extreme temperatures and flammable materials. If a battery looks swollen, damaged, or is overheating, tell the Business Manager immediately

Equipment Permitted in Your Room

Permitted:

- Refrigerator (130L or smaller bar fridge only - put something (an old towel is perfect) underneath to protect the carpet)
- Laptop, desktop computer, monitors, printer
- Desk lamp, laptop charger, phone charger
- Decorative lights (LED, Christmas lights, fairy lights—not real candles)
- Microwave
- Electric jug
- Small lithium-ion battery devices (as above)
- Essential oil diffuser (electric only)

Not Permitted:

- Air conditioners, heaters, electric blankets, hot water bottles, heating pads
- Sofas, bean bags, large furniture (except with written approval)
- Any cooking appliances except the microwave and the jug

- Open-flame candles or incense
- Tea-light diffusers
- Personal Mobility Vehicles (e-bikes, e-scooters) with lithium-ion batteries

If you want to bring something else, email the Business Manager to discuss further.

Be Mindful

Some residents and staff are susceptible to perfumes and scents. It can give them migraines. If you use reed diffusers or perfume sprays, be thoughtful about where and when you use them—especially in shared bathrooms.

Single Occupancy

Queensland fire regulations mean you're the only person allowed to sleep in your room—no overnight guests. Guests must leave by 10 pm.

Room Swapping

You can request a room swap between Semester 1 and Semester 2. Please make an appointment with the Business Manager to discuss this. The swap costs $100 and includes deep cleaning and administrative changes. Please note: room swaps are only available if there is capacity and vacancy available.

Accessibility and Inclusion

Disability Support and Adjustments

We're committed to providing reasonable adjustments for residents with disabilities or health conditions (including neurodivergence, chronic illness, and mental health conditions).

Tell us what you need:

- During your stay (speak to the Resident Wellbeing Lead as soon as possible)

We can help with:

- Room adjustments (accessible parking, ground-floor room, proximity to facilities)
- Study support (tutors, quiet spaces)
- Meal accommodations
- Event participation
- Mental health and counselling support

Confidentiality: We keep your information private. We only tell staff who need to know, to support you. Speak to: Business Manager or Resident Wellbeing Lead.

Cultural and Dietary Needs

We value your cultural identity, beliefs, and needs.

- Dietary restrictions or allergies (on your application or as soon as they arise)
- Cultural or religious meal needs
- Dates or practices that matter to you

- Accommodate dietary needs in the dining room and at events
- Provide space for prayer or cultural observance if needed

Speak to: Business Manager

International Students

We recognise international students have different needs—you're far from home, may be navigating visa requirements, and may have language or cultural differences.

Support available:

- Peer mentors and Resident Mentors who understand international student experience
- Academic support and tutoring
- Counselling (available to you as a university student)
- Community and social events
- Help navigate Australian culture and systems

Please tell us what you need. We're here to help you succeed and feel at home. Speak to: Resident Wellbeing Lead.

Shared Spaces

Using Shared Spaces Respectfully

Union College is a community. We all use the same dining room, kitchen, games room, terrace, and outdoor areas.

Everyone's responsibility:

- Leave common areas clean. If you use something, clean up after yourself
- Respect that other residents are studying, sleeping, or relaxing
- Don't be loud between 11 pm and 8 am
- Don't move furniture or remove equipment from standard rooms
- Report broken or damaged equipment via the QR code
- Respect other people's belongings—don't take them without asking

The standard you walk past is the standard you accept. If you see a mess or something's broken, don't just leave it. Tell the team or the RM.

The Dining Room

Everyone has a right to enjoy meals in a clean, safe, and welcoming environment. Here's how we keep it that way:

During meals:

Responsible Consumption of Alcohol

Union College supports residents who choose to drink responsibly. We also fully support residents who choose not to drink.

The Legal Position

- Legal drinking age in Australia is 18 years
- Providing alcohol to anyone under 18 is a criminal offence
- We strictly enforce this

What We Expect

If you choose to drink:

- Learn and know your limits
- Don't drink alone or in secret
- Don't pressure friends to drink, or shame them for not drinking
- Look after friends who are drinking
- Never leave a drunk friend alone
- Don't drink and drive
- Don't drive with someone who's been drinking
- Don't use alcohol as an excuse for behaviour you wouldn't normally do
- Respect the Terrace rules (see above)

What "being responsible" means:

- Knowing how alcohol affects you personally
- Not getting so drunk you can't consent or make safe decisions
- Not using alcohol to cope with problems (if this is happening, talk to someone)
- Respecting that others may not drink, and that's okay

If You're Worried About Your Drinking

Or a friend's drinking, or you're from a culture or family where alcohol isn't part of your life—it's okay not to drink. And it's OK to ask for help if you're struggling.

Resources:

- UQ Student Support Services
- Your Resident Mentor or the Resident Wellbeing Lead
- Counselling services, such as Lotus Health and Psychology, campus-based services, or your GP (see Support Services below)

Your Health, Safety, and Wellbeing

On-Campus Support

Resident Wellbeing Lead

We have a Resident Wellbeing Lead who is here to support your health, safety and personal growth while you live in our community. This role helps us create a place where you feel safe, respected and included, and where you can succeed socially and emotionally.

Our Resident Wellbeing Lead helps you tackle challenges early, connects you with support, and builds a strong sense of connection and belonging in college life, and is usually the first person you can come to about any wellbeing or safety concern, including worries about your own or someone else's mental health, safety, relationships or behaviour in college.

They will listen to you, explain your options, and support you in accessing the help you choose, in ways that are trauma-informed, fair, and centred on your safety and needs.

They also work closely with our senior staff and student leaders to implement wellbeing and safety initiatives, including actions to prevent and respond to gender-based violence, bullying, harassment, and discrimination.

You'll find them in the Fire Room or in their office in the Barn.

Topics covered:

- General mental health and wellbeing
- Time management
- Homesickness
- Relationship challenges
- Life changes and transitions
- And more

Safety

Fire Safety

Fire alarms are tested regularly. When an alarm sounds, evacuate immediately. Please do not assume it's a drill. There is an evacuation diagram, similar to the one below, on the wall on each floor and in all common rooms, showing the exit and access points for each floor. Please familiarise yourself with the diagram on your floor so you know the nearest exit to your room.

What fire alarms sound like: You'll hear a loud, continuous bell or siren.

Evacuation procedure:

1. Leave your room
2. Close your door (not lock it)
3. Use the nearest stairwell
4. Exit the building
5. Move away from the building to your floor's assembly point (see below)

Wait for all-clear from staff

Assembly points (by floor):

- ABC Block residents: Parade ground
- GHJ Block residents: Courtyard area
- PQR Block residents: Carpark area

Staff will check that everyone is accounted for.

What to know:

- Don't use lifts in a fire
- Don't stop to grab belongings
- Don't re-enter the building
- Help others if you can, but don't delay evacuation

Emergency Lockdown

In rare situations (such as an active threat or a dangerous person on site), the College may initiate an emergency lockdown.

Definition – Lockdown

A lockdown is an emergency response that restricts movement and secures people in safe locations when a threat is inside the College or poses an immediate danger.

Lockdown is different from:

- Evacuation (used for fire, gas leaks, structural hazards)
- Shelter-in-place (used for external environmental threats such as a bomb threat to us or nearby, severe weather such as a cyclone)

Triggers for Lockdown

A lockdown may be initiated if any of the following occur:

- Physical violence or credible threat of violence
- Possession or suspected possession of a weapon
- Aggressive or erratic behaviour escalating rapidly
- Active assault or fighting
- Hostage or barricade situation
- Serious threat communicated verbally, digitally, or in writing
- Police, Union College Staff or Security instruction

Lockdown Communication

How Lockdown is Announced:

- Verbal announcement via Emergency College speaker system (clear, calm, authoritative)
- SMS / email alert (if time permits) – via StarRez. Reception, Admissions or Reenah Jays can activate.
- UC Security or Police instruction
- Direct RM or staff instruction

If you hear an announcement of a lockdown:

1. Move immediately to the nearest safe, lockable room
2. Lock doors; barricade if possible
3. Turn off lights
4. Silence mobile phones
5. Stay low and out of sight
6. Do not open doors unless instructed by the police or the college leadership
 - Do not leave until the All Clear is given. This will be communicated via text, email or Union College speaker system, or a combination of these methods.

If You Are Confronted Directly

If escape is not possible and you are directly confronted:

- Comply with demands if required for safety
 - Use de-escalation techniques where possible
 - Only consider physical resistance as a last resort to protect life
 - Follow Police guidance when they arrive.
7. After a lockdown, College staff will offer support and counselling. We'll help you process what happened.

Reporting Concerns, Making Complaints, and Getting Help

If something is wrong—whether it's a concern about another resident, a problem with facilities, a complaint about a team member, or something more serious like harassment or violence—we want to hear about it.

We have clear pathways for reporting. We take all reports seriously. We investigate fairly. We protect people who report from retaliation.

This section explains how to get help.

Types of Concerns and How to Report

Everyday Issues (Noise, Mess, Small Conflicts)

Examples: A neighbour's music is too loud, the shared kitchen is messy, you're clashing with a roommate.

First step: Talk to your Resident Mentor. They can help resolve it, mediate, or escalate if needed.

If not resolved, contact the Resident Wellbeing Lead.

If you have a concern about a fellow resident's wellbeing, please let someone know. Ideally, reach out to the Resident Wellbeing Lead to discuss your concerns. If you don't feel comfortable doing so, you can make an anonymous report on RespectX.

Maintenance or Facility Issues

Examples: Broken light, leaky tap, door not locking, damaged common area.

Report: Via the Maintenance QR Code available on all floors, in resident rooms, and in common rooms.

Response time: Issues reported by noon will be assessed that day if possible.

Social Issues

For social issues and concerns, including those listed below, please inform the Resident Wellbeing Lead.

If you need to make an urgent report outside of business hours, please refer to the reporting diagram.

You can, at any time after hours, request that the Duty RM or RSO call the on-call staff member.

Reporting Diagram

During Business Hours

After Business Hours

If the RSO is not on campus:

If the RSO is on campus:

The only exception to the above is in a medical emergency, where you would call 000, then follow the above pathway.

All matters that require the input of the Head of College/CEO or Deputy Head of College/Deputy CEO will be referred by the appropriate staff member or RSO.

If you do not feel comfortable reporting to the Duty RM, you can report directly to the SRMs or the RSO. If you do not feel comfortable reporting to the RSO or SRMs, you can ask them to call the on-call staff member.

Harassment, Discrimination, or Disrespect

Examples: A resident is making racist jokes, someone's making comments about your gender or sexuality, or you're being excluded based on your identity.

This is a serious concern. These behaviours go against our values and policies.

Report to:

1. The Resident Wellbeing Lead, or
2. Your floor RM, the Duty RM and/or SRMs, or
3. The RSO

What happens:

- We listen without judgment
- We investigate how the behaviour impacts you and others and whether it is a breach of our Code of Conduct and values
- We talk to the person involved
- We may require education, an apology, or stronger discipline depending on the severity
- We keep you informed of the outcome (within confidentiality limits)
- We protect you from retaliation

If you wish to make an anonymous report, you can do so through the reporting platform RespectX.

Gender Based Violence, Sexual Harassment, Bullying, or Intimidation

Gender-Based Violence is any form of physical or non-physical violence, harassment, abuse or threats based on gender that results in, or is likely to result in, harm, coercion, control, fear, or deprivation of liberty or autonomy.

Sexual harassment is any unwelcome sexual conduct that makes a person feel offended, humiliated and/or intimidated, where that reaction is reasonable in the circumstances.

Bullying is ongoing and deliberate misuse of power in relationships through repeated verbal, physical and/or social behaviour that intends to cause harm.

Intimidation is a behaviour that causes fear of safety or a reasonable apprehension of violence or injury to someone.

Examples: Unwanted sexual comments, repeated intimidating behaviour, threats, being followed or watched in a way that makes you uncomfortable.

This is never okay. You are not at fault.

Report to:

1. The Resident Wellbeing Lead, or
2. Your floor RM, the Duty RM and/or SRMs, or
3. The RSO, and
4. Call 000 if you're in immediate danger

You can also:

- Call 1800 RESPECT (1800 737 732) for confidential support
- Go to UQ Student Support Services

What we do:

- Believe you
- Don't blame you
- Listen without pressure
- Offer support (counselling, academic adjustments, etc.)
- Investigate fairly and promptly
- Take disciplinary action if findings support a breach of our code of conduct and/or values
- Keep you safe throughout the process (may separate you from the person, change your room, limit contact, etc.)

If you wish to make an anonymous report, you can do so through the reporting platform RespectX.

Sexual Assault, Sexual Abuse and Gender Based Violence

What it is: Any sexual activity without explicit, enthusiastic consent. This includes rape, unwanted touching, coerced sexual acts, and assault while someone is asleep or unable to consent.

It is never your fault. Not ever.

Immediate help:

- If you need medical help: Go to the ER or call 000
- To report: You can report to the police (000) or to the College (or both)

- For support without reporting: Call 1800 RESPECT or go to a counsellor

Reporting to the College:

1. Speak to the Resident Wellbeing Lead, or
2. Inform the RSO or Duty RM that you need to talk to the staff member on call, and request that they call them in, or
3. Via RespectX on your phone or computer, or
4. Or email us at: wellbeing@unioncollegeuq.com.au, and
5. Tell us what happened, when, and who was involved

We'll listen. We won't pressure you into anything. We can listen, help you get support, or initiate a formal report—whatever you want.

What we do:

- Take every report seriously
- Investigate promptly and fairly
- Prioritise your safety
- Offer counselling, medical referral, and academic support
- Keep you informed of the investigation (within fairness limits)
- If findings support your report, the person will face discipline up to expulsion
- Protect you from retaliation

During an investigation:

- We support your safety (separation if needed, room changes, security, etc.)
- You have the right to have a support person with you during interviews
- You have the right to know the outcome
- If you want to withdraw the report at any time, we'll discuss that with you
- We don't stop investigations just because you want to withdraw, if there's a serious safety risk to the community

If you wish to make an anonymous report, you can do so through the reporting platform RespectX.

Violence, Aggression, or Threats (gender-based or other)

Examples: Someone hit you, pushed you, threatened you with violence, or made threats toward others.

This is a crime and a serious breach of our Code.

Immediate action:

- If you're in danger: Call 000
- Get to safety: Leave the situation if you can
- Get help: Tell a staff member, RM, or the Resident Support Officer immediately
- Report to: Police (000) and the College (Resident Wellbeing Lead, Deputy Head of College, or Resident Support Officer)

What the College does:

- Investigates immediately
- Separates you from the person if needed
- Offers support
- Discipline, which can include expulsion
- Cooperates with police

Drugs or Illegal Activity

Examples: Someone's dealing drugs, you see evidence of illegal activity, or you're concerned about drug use.

Report to:

1. The Resident Wellbeing Lead, or
2. Your floor RM, the Duty RM and/or SRMs, or
3. The RSO, and
4. Call 000 if you're in immediate danger
5. Police (if you think a crime is happening)

You can stay anonymous: If you don't want to be identified, you can report anonymously to the College or to the police.

What happens:

- We investigate or report it directly to the Police
- If findings support the report, discipline follows (up to expulsion)
- We cooperate with the police if there's a crime

Concerns About a Staff Member

Examples: A staff member made you uncomfortable, acted unprofessionally, or mistreated you.

Report to:

1. The Resident Wellbeing Lead, or
2. The Deputy Head of College, or
3. The Head of College, or
4. The Board Chair, or
5. Your University's Student Support Unit, or
6. The National Student Ombudsman

You can stay anonymous.

What happens: The concern is investigated by someone independent of that staff member.

How to Make a Formal Complaint

Step-by-Step

1. Decide what you want: Are you looking for support? Would you like the behaviour to change? Do you want a formal investigation? All of these? You can decide this at any point in the process.
2. Tell someone: To make a formal complaint, speak to the Resident Wellbeing Lead or use RespectX.
3. Be as specific as possible: Who was involved, what happened, when, where, and how it affected you.
4. We listen without judgment: There is no blame. We're here to help.
5. We explain options: You may be able to choose a support-focused approach, a restorative conversation, or a formal investigation. We'll explain each.
6. We investigate (if formal): We talk to you, the person involved, and any witnesses. We gather information. We aim to be fair to everyone.

7. We decide: Based on the evidence, we determine whether the allegation is upheld.
8. We tell you the outcome: Within confidentiality limits (if the other person's identity needs to stay private or there are legal reasons to limit details, we explain why).
9. We act: If findings support your report, we discipline the person. This might be education, a requirement to apologise, a fine, loss of room access, suspension, or expulsion.
10. We check in: We follow up with you to make sure you're okay and that any agreed actions are happening.

Your Rights During a Complaint or Investigation

- You have the right to be believed: We believe your report. Disbelief is not an option.
- You have the right to be heard: Your side of the story matters. You'll have a chance to tell it.
- You have the right to support: You can bring a support person (friend, advocate, counsellor, family member) to any meeting or interview.
- You have the right to know what's happening: We tell you what's happening, what we're investigating, and when you can expect updates.
- You have the right to confidentiality: We keep your identity and details private, except where safety requires us to act.
- You have the right to no retaliation: If the person you reported is angry or tries to intimidate you, that's a new complaint. We address it immediately. Retaliation is a serious breach of the Code.
- You have the right to take time: You don't have to report right away. You can take your time thinking about it. You don't have to report to the College; you can report to the police, your university, or both.
- You have the right to withdraw: You can cancel a report at any time (though we may continue to investigate if there's a serious safety risk).
- You have the right to question: If you don't understand something, ask. We'll explain.

If You're Accused of Something

- You have the right to know: What are you accused of? We will be specific.
- You have the right to be heard: Tell your side. We listen.
- You have the right to fairness: The person investigating is impartial. They don't have a predetermined view.
